all I found

was weakness and cowardice and perversion.

So now I wage war on me and apologise.

The faux-wisdom said:

take risks'

never say sorry for who you are'

I followed it once,

to my most authentic self,

cacoethes

I would take pleasure

in disfiguring you,

breaking and scarring you

to paint a pretty picture of violence,

but fuck. you.

you are not worth the beauty of such visceral actions.

guilt & sleep wrestle over me, all I can hope is that these thoughts of regret & panic & despair, these white-hot thoughts , will rupture from my yielding skull and burn me

where I lay,
awake
